

A New Day Dawning

This is the dawning of a new day. Take heart My holy ones, for you have been chosen for this day. I shall go before you and drive out the enemy from your land. I shall answer your prayers and heal your land. I speak of the land of your hearts and souls.

Be encouraged this day, My people, for I alone am the Lord your God. All I ask of you is to go before Me and keep My boundaries: do justice, love mercy, be kind, be generous with one another, pray for one another, encourage one another, strengthen one another. Our fellowship is with one another.

In this new day, I am establishing new relationships. I am bringing forth My body. I am joining body parts that belong to each other. Be ready and willing to let go of old relationships and covenants that I may place you in the body where I will.

Be ready to move. Be ready to join yourselves to those with whom I have appointed for purposes known only to Me. See, this is a new day. I am pouring forth My Spirit in a new and fresh way. I am raining glory down upon My body.

My body is a living organism. It is dynamic, fluid, flexible, and pliable—you are My body, My people. You are My blood, My body, My life, My servant. You go forth into the streets of human lives and walk as I walked, full of the Holy Ghost and power. I will live My life in and through you. And you will be joined one to another in a mighty way.

See, I am causing you, My servants, to be raised up even before you, so that you can even see for yourselves that it is I, not you, who is doing this thing.

Be diligent always to do My perfect will. My perfect word can only be performed through the pipelines of perfect obedience. The more exact you are in performing My word in your lives, the more powerful My word will be in your midst.

You must remember, always, that it is My word that does the work. My word goes before Me to accomplish the good work for which I sent it out. You speak My word. You say what I say, you do what I do, and you will realize a power and a walk with Me you never thought possible in this life.

Consider My servants Abraham, Moses, Elijah, Elisha—these were mere men; yet, men destined to obey Me explicitly. You, too, are a generation of mere men destined to obey Me explicitly.

Call upon My name. Reserve holiness unto Me, the Lord your God. Walk before Me and I will show you the way. Seek Me daily and I will speak to you. I will bless you and cause you to go before Me as kings and priests.

Stay honest, open, and real with one another and remember you are a "one-another" body of believers. Walk with Me, talk with Me, but do so one-with-the-other.
