

Separation

A separation is occurring, a separation by My Spirit, a separation brought about by fire—the fire of My Holy Spirit, a separation of gold and silver from its dross. It is a final separation that is taking place.

It manifests itself on many different levels. It is a separation from sin, a separation from idolatry, a separation from flesh, a separation from the domain of Satan, a separation from spiritual harlotry, a separation from anything that discredits or stains My holy ones.

I am calling forth My remnant, My final remnant, and I am purifying her. I am purifying My sons, My bride. In order to purify My bride, I must separate you from anything that holds you back or binds you to sin.

Expect changes to take place in your lives. You will see relationships change. You will experience attitude changes. What you once revered, you will no longer revere. What you once depended upon, you will no longer depend upon. Things you used to love, you will now disdain.

The fire is never pleasant, but always remember that, while in the midst of the fire, I am the fire.

I have a purpose for the fire, and that purpose is to separate, sanctify a people unto myself, for it isn't until you are separated and sanctified that you can be glorified. And I am bringing forth those sons of glory, sons of thunder, sons of brightness, sons of light in this hour. I want for My sons absolute sanctification, absolute maturity, perfection, holiness. I will have that before I come.

So pray for that for yourselves, and pray for that for those others in your lives who you revere highly.

When this kind of separation occurs, there is confusion, there is fear, there is anger, disillusionment, anxieties, frustrations, feelings of abandonment, all kinds of feelings because you are breaking dependency upon things that are unrighteous. That must be done first before you can find your confidence, complete confidence, in Me. The old has to be done away with before the new can come about. Death has to occur before resurrection life.

Do not be angry at yourselves and do not destroy one another in the midst of your confusion. I have warned you in advance. I now prepare you to know that the separations you experience and all the emotions that go with those separations are necessary. Look beyond them to the end of it, the end result, the goal of spiritual maturity, separation, sanctification, and glorification.
